Mead Johnson's Key Brands

Enfamil® and its family of formulas, including Enfagrow®, Enfakid® and Enfapro®, are scientifically-designed to meet the nutritional needs of newborns, infants, toddlers and children. Enfamil's full product portfolio is formulated to provide optimal nutrition and to support brain development. Following a staged approach, each formula is intended for use as part of a balanced diet, while helping to provide the nutrients needed for healthy physical growth and development during the first critical days of life, up to toddler and school age.

Nutramigen® is designed to meet the nutritional needs of infants and young children with food allergies or colic due to protein sensitivities. Nutramigen contains a milk protein that is broken down into tiny pieces to virtually eliminate allergic reactions. This extensively hydrolyzed protein has been widely studied and is clinically proven effective for managing cow's milk protein allergy. Nutramigen also includes DHA and ARA – two nutrients found in breast milk that are important building blocks for a baby's brain and eyes.

Lactum® is a scientifically-formulated milk supplement designed to provide 100 percent of the daily nutrients needed when combined with three regular meals based on the nutritional recommendations of the Food Pyramid guidelines in the Philippines. Lactum helps parents provide proper nutritional supplements for kids, ensuring essential nutrients are incorporated into their diet.

Sustagen® is a nutritionally-balanced milk supplement for children. Available in plain, vanilla, honey and chocolate flavors, Sustagen's children's milk formulas target the unique nutritional needs of children during specific stages of development: from 1 to 2 years, 3 years and older, and for school-aged children 6 years and older.

Choco Milk®, a leading nutritional milk supplement, has become one of the best-loved fortified drinks for kids in Mexico and continues to grow in popularity in the Southwest United States. Parents love it for its vitamin-rich offering, while kids love it for its creamy, chocolaty taste.
